TENNIS TIP

Strategy tips for Doubles and Mixed Doubles

Rushing the net in doubles is always a good strategy. However, if your return of serve is weak, you may decide to stay back and get to the net on the next shot. If you are getting lobbed every time you come in, then don't come in as far and leave a little more room between you and the net. In Mixed Doubles, get to the net and volley if you can. If one of the opponents has too powerful a shot for you to handle, then stay back with your partner on the baseline so you can judge the pace. Play the ball back to the weaker opponent when you can and take advantage of the net at every opportunity.
